Hispanic Heritage Month

Chocolate originates in Mexico. Sprinkle some cinnamon on your hot chocolate next time for a traditional sweet drink!

The first formal recognition of Hispanic Heritage was made by Congress in 1968. Originally designated as the week of Sept. 15, the celebration was centered around the Independence Days of Costa Rica, El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras and Nicaragua, which are celebrated on Sept. 15, and Mexico, which is celebrated on Sept. 16. According to the U.S. Census, people of Hispanic descent can trace their ancestry to Mexico, Puerto Rico, Cuba, Spain and the Spanish-speaking countries of Central and South America. National Hispanic Heritage Month celebrates people of various different races, from more than 20 different nations around the world who share a related cultural and ethnic heritage.

SAVE THE DATE!

T.C. Boyle will be speaking in Fort Collins at the Lincoln Center Sunday, November 8, 2009 at 7:30pm!
The Tortilla Curtain is a story about two families living in Southern California. The Rincóns are illegal immigrants from Mexico, while the Mossbachers are an eclectic family who are fairly well-off. A unique encounter brings them all together and helps them to find the American dream.
 This is a fascinating book, and we hope that you can join us for the special presentation! Bring a friend and spread the word! To learn more look it up on PenguinGroup.com-a book club site.
